Are in the nerves—all feeling is. Headache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatic pains, backache, etc.—they're all there, but in different parts. It's nerve irritation. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve nerve irritation, and pain subsides. They do not derange the stomach, or leave disagreeable after-effects. Your druggist can tell you that many use them, and would not be without them.

"I take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for headache, neuralgia, stomach ache and pains of any nature. The best medicine. If they fail to help, your druggist will refund the money on first package. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind."

South street the afternoon he and his brother were robbed, and whom he informed that Bell and Parrent were going west on Second South street toward the New England addition, testified that such a conversation took place, and that he immediately notified the desk sergeant at police headquarters. Ben Seifus, patrolman at the Denver & Rio Grande yards, started to testify of a conversation Alexander McWhirter had with him the afternoon of the robbery, but Judge Morse would not allow it to go before the jury on the ground that when the State had tried to get this testimony from McWhirter the defense had objected, and their objection had been sustained.

Shannon on Stand.

Detective Dick Shannon testified that he had arrested Bell early in September, 1906, when he found him near the Oregon Short Line depot tearing up bogus checks. He said he had taken him to headquarters, and upon his (Bell's) promise to leave town had turned him loose. He admitted having seen Bell twice after, but declared he had no evidence against him of any crime, and declared further it had been his experience that in arresting crooks where he had no specific case against them he could get no complaints issued.

Attorney Loofbourrow, for the State, directed his hardest cross-examination at Gough and Doulen, the two second-hand store men, and Sergeant Hemple. He failed utterly to break down the testimony of any one of the three. The second-hand store men stuck to their story, in spite of references to former testimony given by them which did not correspond in exact language to the stories they told Monday. They were emphatic and positive in declaring Sheets was never in their store while Chief of Police.

The State tried to prevent Raleigh being put on the stand by declaring that he had been present in the courtroom and listened to some of the proceedings of the case, when the court had ordered that all witnesses be kept from the room. Judge Morse refused to exclude the former detective's evidence, however.

Argument for Dismissal.

Several witnesses will be called Tuesday morning to testify on minor points in the case before Sheets is called.

The arguments on the motion to dismiss the case and against the motion occupied Monday morning's session. Judge Thurman argued the motion for Sheets, declaring, in substance, that the only evidence introduced by the State to prove that Sheets offered to accept a bribe, or actually did accept a bribe, was that of Bell, a professional crook. Judge Thurman argued that Bell's story was uncorroborated, and that under the Utah statutes a man cannot be convicted of a crime upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice. This was his main argument, and he cited the Hayward case in Idaho and the Utah statutes. He reviewed at some length the evidence introduced by the State.

District Attorney Loofbourrow followed Judge Thurman, arguing for the State, at a case of bribery corroborative evidence is necessary, and as bribery is always committed in secret, it must be proven by circumstantial evidence, and that a broad interpretation of the statutes upon "uncorroborated evidence" must be taken in such cases.

Cite Hayward Case.

By reading portions of the testimony introduced by the State, he attempted to show that a perfect understanding existed between Bell and Donaldson and Sheets. This, he argued, was a crime, for it showed an agreement which was to abide by bribery. County Attorney Hanson argued at some length along the same lines, and Judge Thurman closed the arguments on the motion by citing the Hayward case in Idaho, and reading the instructions given the jury in that case on the corroborated evidence of an accomplice. It is probable that when the case against Sheets is ready for the jury the attorneys for the defense will ask Judge Morse to instruct the jury that the evidence introduced against Sheets by the State to show that he offered to accept a bribe, or that he did accept a bribe, is uncorroborated, and that under the Utah statutes mentioned above he cannot be convicted in such a case. As Judge Morse has refused to dismiss the case on these grounds, it is probable that he will comply with such a request. From all indications Sheets' innocence or guilt will be decided by the jury upon the testimony introduced by the State and the defense.

Killed by Falling Beam.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Andrew Shaw, aged 25, an engineer working on the new Palace hotel building, was killed instantly this morning by being struck by a beam which fell from the third story.

MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. PAUL RESENT MORMON INTERFERENCE

The Mormon church has struck a snag in its campaign in Minnesota.

Last Wednesday, according to advices received here Monday night, G. N. Curtis, State president of the church in Minnesota, announced from his headquarters in Minneapolis that within a few days thereafter Mormon elders, under his direction, would visit the public schools of Minneapolis and St. Paul and preach on Mormonism to the children of the different grades. Curtis declared that every grade and room would be bombarded with Mormon literature, that the elders would read the book of Mormonism to the pupils and explain the different texts.

The public of the Twin Cities and the officials of the public schools of each city are up in arms over the announcement from city officials and the superintendents of schools for the State have come emphatic statements that if Mormon elders attempt to enter the buildings or the schoolrooms and address the scholars they will be kicked into the street by the janitors.

The newspapers of the two cities indignantly condemn the announced purpose of the Mormons under Curtis. "The pupils in the public schools of Minneapolis will never have Mormonism crammed down their throats while I am principal of the schools," Dr. S. M. Jordan of Minneapolis declares. J. W. Olson, superintendent of schools for the State, declares he will protect any teacher or janitor in the schools of Minneapolis and St. Paul who kicks a Mormon elder into the streets in case the elder persists in entering a schoolroom. The principals of all the schools in both cities have issued orders that no Mormon literature is to be allowed on the school grounds or in any school building.

It is reported that the Mormon missionaries in Minneapolis have made a home to house canvase in that city in an effort to secure converts. The public feeling against them is extremely bitter, according to Minneapolis papers.

Women who are sick and want to get well should refuse to accept any substitute for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

No other medicine has such a record of success for woman's diseases, or such hosts of grateful friends as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for feminine ills, Inflammation, Ulceration, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has relieved more cases of Backache and Local Weakness than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregularities and periodic pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility, quickly yield to it; also deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearing feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues." These are indications of Feminine Disorders, which this medicine overcomes as well as slight derangement of the Kidneys of either sex.

MENTAL ABERRATION IS CAUSED BY SUGGESTION OF THE MORMON TEMPLE

John E. Smith is free again after a brief but novel matrimonial experience. December 31, 1907, Smith, who is a young man of twenty-six years, led Miss Alvida Christensen, thirty-seven years old, to the altar. They were married in the city and county building by J. U. Eldredge, Sr., and went from Salt Lake to the home of the bride at Murray.

Up to about 9 o'clock in the evening all went as happy as a marriage bell, however happy that may be, but at the hour named a shadow fell athwart the few-hour-old honeymoon. The bride went into the room of her husband and informed him that she did not propose to live with him for the reason that he had not been through the Mormon temple. The groom expostulated, but this had no effect upon the bride. She again informed him that she would not live with him and advised him to beat it and secure a divorce.

Shortly afterwards Smith filed an action for divorce against his wife on the ground of cruelty. The matter came before Judge Armstrong Saturday, but the decree was denied, pending the introduction of further testimony. The further testimony was forthcoming Monday, when Smith's uncle and D. O. Willey, Jr., both testified that the young man was virtually insane for some time before his wife so unceremoniously threw him into the discard. The uncle testified that the young man walked the floor almost continuously for two days and nights and that he appeared dazed and uncertain of his actions when he applied to him to secure a divorce. It also was shown that Smith did not return to work for nearly a month after his experience.

Upon this additional showing, Judge Armstrong granted the decree.

INDIANS WIN CONTEST AGAINST UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—In an opinion by Justice Holmes, the Supreme Court of the United States today decided the case of the Sisseton and Wahpeton bands of Sioux Indians vs. the United States favorably to the Indians. The Indians claimed a large sum of money growing out of a treaty with them in 1851, under which the Government agreed to pay them for fifty years an annuity of $13,600 in addition to $205,000 cash paid at the time. The payments were regularly made until the Sioux outbreak of 1862, when, owing to the many atrocities committed, the treaties were suspended. The Court of Claims held that the Government was still indebted to the Indians for $788,971, which was today affirmed.
